

The image contains two separate line drawings of irregular, organic shapes. The shape on the left is roughly horizontal and elongated, with a jagged, irregular outline. It is divided into several internal regions by straight lines. A prominent vertical line runs down the center, and several other lines connect the outer boundary to this central axis or to each other, creating a complex internal structure. The shape on the right is also irregular and elongated, but more horizontally oriented. It features a similar pattern of internal divisions with straight lines that partition the space into various sized regions. Both shapes have a hand-drawn, sketchy quality to their outlines and internal lines.